

Narberth Hard Put to Defeat Media

Davismen Given Keenest Opposition of Season, But Win 6 to 4.

HARRIS STARS ON FIRST

By John Uberti.
Media A. A. found Graham easy to solve in Wednesday's twilight brawl, and only by virtue of a last-minute spurt with the mace did the Davismen capture the battle by a 6-4 score. Narberth got a scare when, after tying the score in the sixth, Newmiller endeavored to snare his own victory by elevating a steaming aerial over Heckle's head in deep centre for a home run. Narberth was fortunate that the bases were bare, for had there been two on the pathways the decision might have been reversed.

Graham, who hurled his eighth victory of the season, found Newmiller a gallant rival on the peak, who allowed three nicks less than he, while the invaders assembled five hits in the sixth to outthit the locals, 11 to 8.

Harris, who guarded first in Martin's absence, played a flashing game, accounting for eight of the 27 putouts, many of them being by dexterous manipulation of the ball on numerous faulty assists from his teammates, Humphreys being one of the wild tossers.

Heckle, lead-off man, started the rally that turned in two runs in the opener when he reached first as the second baseman failed to grip his easy pop-up and went to third on Harris' sacrifice and Masters singled. Walt purloined second and Gillfillan crashed a one-bagger, emptying the lanes. Humphreys beat out Sower's throw to first and Mulligan singled, forcing him out on second. Thomas blanked. Two runs.

Harris failed to grasp Litchenstein's thorny grounder in the third, allowing him to get on. Litchenstein counted when Weaver shot a bounder through Gillfillan's legs.

Thomas doubled in the fourth canto as Mulligan, who had singled and purloined second, was nipped at the disc, and Graham singled, admitting Thomas.

Avon Beats Lindy

The Avon A. A. defeated the Lindy Boys' Club 4 to 3 in a pitchers' duel between Kane and Burgess on Tuesday evening. Avon slipped over the winning run in the eighth when Anderson stole home. Kane starred at bat for Lindy with a double and a single while Carson led the Avon attack with a triple, which ended in a putout at the plate as he tried to stretch it into a homer.

The lineup: Avon A. A.—Donahue, c.; Burgess, p.; Daubert, 1b.; Anderson, 2b.; Richardson, 3b.; Finnan, ss.; Sherwood, lf.; Carson, cf.; Zilger, rf.; Parry, sub., lf. Lindy Boys' Club—B. Wright, c.; Kane, p.; Casey, 1b.; E. Wright, 2b.; Stroup, 3b.; Hopkins, ss.; Rittenhouse, lf.; Griffiths, cf.; Gilroy, rf. Avon now has three victories and two defeats, while Lindy has won two and lost three. These teams play every Tuesday evening.

Student May Be Abroad

The theory that Robert Doughty, missing Haverford College student, is on a tour abroad has been advanced by the father of the youth, Robert W. Doughty, of Beacon, N. Y. Mr. Doughty declared he was convinced that his son was alive and unharmed. Doughty, who was chum and roommate of William Bramwell Linn, who shot himself on June 7, on the eve of graduation, disappeared from his home last month shortly after the close of school.

Drowned in Canada

William H. Sykes, 2d, of Llandrillo Road, Cynwyd, who was drowned Wednesday while swimming in Dows Lake, Ottawa, Canada. He was the son of the Philadelphia cartoonist, and was graduated from Haverford this June, where he distinguished himself on the track squad.

Cynwyd Youth Drowns Swimming in Canada With College Chum

William Henry Sykes, 2d, 334 Llandrillo Road, Cynwyd, was drowned Wednesday while swimming in Dows Lake, near Ottawa, Canada.

Physicians blamed cramps, caused by swimming too soon after a heavy luncheon, for the drowning.

Sykes was the eldest son of Charles H. Sykes, Evening Ledger cartoonist. Word of their son's death reached Mr. and Mrs. Sykes while they were in New York. Mr. Sykes left immediately for Ottawa.

The dead youth and John Hartman, of York, both of whom were graduated from Haverford last month, had been on a motor trip through New England and Canada for the last two weeks. They expected to return this week.

Hartman made a courageous effort to rescue Sykes, according to witnesses, but was forced to release his hold when in danger of sinking himself.

The struggle and cries attracted attention and several others attempted to reach Sykes. He had been in the water about ten minutes when a boy who had been riding by on a bicycle dived in and, with assistance, brought him to shore.

Two doctors, one of them Dr. J. E. Craig, Ottawa Coroner, and men from a city fire station who had brought a pulmotor, tried unsuccessfully for more than an hour to restore breathing.

The youth, who would have been 21 years old in August, was one of the mainstays of the Haverford College track team and particularly active as a hurdler, being skilled in both high and low hurdles.

Before going to Haverford he attended the Friends Central School at Overbrook. Mr. and Mrs. Sykes have two other sons, Charles Henry, Jr., and John Marshall Sykes, both of whom are younger than the youth who was drowned.

Baldwin School Teacher Dies After Year's Illness

Miss Harriet Manning Blake, of Merion, died on Monday after an illness of more than a year. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Barton F. Blake, of Merion, and a sister of Miss Sue Avis Blake, of the faculty of Bryn Mawr College; of Miss Ruth M. Blake, and of the late Warren Barton Blake.

Miss Blake had been for twelve years the head of the English Department of the Baldwin School, at Bryn Mawr, and before that was a member of the faculty of Mount Holyoke College and of Miss Hills' School in Philadelphia.

Funeral services were held at Miss Blake's home Wednesday afternoon. Burial was private.

Baby Falls to Death

Losing his balance after he had toddled to a second-story window, Thomas N. Beckman, 18 months old, fell to the ground and was fatally injured. He was taken by his parents from his home at 20 Rittenhouse Place to Bryn Mawr Hospital, where he died. Thomas was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Beckman. Burial will be made at Riverview Cemetery

Playground Baseball Is Going Strong

Four Teams Battling For Trophy; Play Thrice a Week.

STAGE QUOT TOUTNEY

The Playground Junior Baseball League opened with a bang last Friday and the four teams are fighting hard to have their names inscribed on the trophy to be presented to the winning team. To date each team has played three games. The teams appear evenly matched and play every Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 2 o'clock.

The personnel of the teams is as follows: John Brennan, ss. (captain); Griffiths, cf.; Donahue, p.; Fittipoldi, 3b.; Nordbloom, c.; Hood, 1b.; Strupe, lf.; Gilroy, 2b.; Bradley, rf.; Newborg, p. (captain); Wright, c.; Peters, 1b.; McGarry, 2b.; White, ss.; Poorman, 3b.; Senn, lf.; Finn, cf.; Purring, rf.; Dick Heckle, p. (captain); Finnan, ss.; Fittipoldi, cf.; Casey, 1b.; Murray, lf.; Munro, 3b.; Lentz, 2b.; King, rf.; Peterson, c.; Howard Smith, p. (captain); Blessing, 1b.; Rittenhouse, rf.; Lippincott, ss.; Miller, 3b.; Parke, 2b.; Gene Finnan, c.; Burgess, cf.; Shea, lf. The following senior boys have umpired the games: Casey, Richardson, Emmett, Thompson and Berry.

The quito tournament on Wednesday was won by John Brennan, who thereby gained the prize of a National League baseball. Thirty entrants took part in the tourney. In the semi-finals Brennan beat Donahue 21-20 in the most exciting game of the tournament. McDevitt defeated Griffiths in the other semi-final match, 21-11. The score of the finals between Brennan and McDevitt was 21-18.

An original doll show was held yesterday with entries from the girls and smaller boys. Apples, flowers, candy, bread, clothes pins and vegetables were all utilized in producing original dolls. Ribbons were presented for the three best dressed and the three funniest.

Spool knitting is in progress now in the handicraft class. Yarn pocket-books will be on the program for next week.

Stunt clubs for both boys and girls and a music club are being organized. A volley ball tournament will be staged on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Eight teams of six players each will compete. It is rumored that the winning team will be treated to an ice cream sundae for each contestant.

Joy-Sorrow Linked

"Happiness and sorrow have a single psychological source and persons who are happiest suffer most," the Rev. Dr. Reinhold Niebuhr, assistant professor of Christian ethics at Union Theological Seminary, said Sunday morning in a sermon at the Bryn Mawr Presbyterian Church.

This condition, Dr. Niebuhr added, constitutes "the ultimate paradox of life."

"Sensitivity for happiness is also sensitivity for grief," he went on. "Really happy people must live in the sorrows as well as the joys of others."

Bryn Mawr Patients Moved in 2 Hours

Schedule as Usual Despite Transfer; 17 Accident Cases Are Treated the First Day.

Removal of 100 patients from the older buildings to Building A or patients' building at the Bryn Mawr Hospital between 9 and 11 A. M. Tuesday is the latest administration feat at that institution. No delays whatever were caused in the hospital's routine and dinner was served to the patients and staff at the usual hour.

Of importance to every resident of the community is the announcement that the hospital's telephone has been changed from Bryn Mawr 1 to Bryn Mawr 1800. This step was found necessary because of the need of additional numbers for trunk lines.

The first accident case treated in the new building was a pharmacist, Dr. D. N. Ross, of Oakmont. Dr. Ross was struck by an automobile and suffered painful lacerations. On the first day in new quarters, Tuesday, seven teen patients were treated in the accident ward. The first operation, for the removal of tonsils, was also performed Tuesday in the new operating room.

Library Plays Host to Temple Students

Future Librarians Inspect Workings of Community Institution.

SERVE REFRESHMENTS

Thirty-nine students and three teachers from the Temple University summer library school visited the Narberth Community Library last Thursday afternoon. The delegation arrived at 2:30 in a bus and in two additional automobiles.

They were greeted by Miss Church, the librarian, who is herself a graduate of the Temple University Library School, and who, in recalling her own experiences on similar occasions, had asked that light refreshments be served on the arrival of the students at the Narberth Library. Fifteen members of the former volunteer staff of the library responded to the call and served cakes and punch to a very responsive group of women.

Miss Church in addressing the students spoke of her interest in the work of the Narberth Library, mentioning especially the policy of the library in co-operating with other organizations in town. She referred particularly to the occasional display of art work from the Narberth schools, to the library's participation in Better Homes Week, in the Reading Circle of the Women's Club and in the Vacation Reading as sponsored by the Mothers' Council. She gave statistics showing the standard by which the American Library Association measures libraries, using the figures of the Community Library for comparison.

Miss Church then called on Mrs. Robert Wood to give a history of the development of the Narberth Library and her talk led to many suggestions on the policies of the local institution. Miss Bessie Graham, principal of the visiting school, expressed her delight at the welcome accorded the students and voiced their appreciation. She then dismissed the group, who, with notebooks and pencils, examined the book shelves, the catalogue file, the reference material, the children's department, the reading tables and the magazine rack, gathering information for later class discussions.

The visit to the library was a part of the regular schedule of the library course which in addition to theoretical discussions plans to give its students opportunity to observe libraries in operation. The Narberth Library was very much gratified that it was worthy of being included in such a schedule, though it realizes that it was Miss Church's former connection with Temple University that placed the Narberth Library on the list.

Picnic Wednesday

The second annual picnic of the Main Line Tailors and Cleaners' Association will be held on Wednesday, July 24, at Lenape Park, Westchester. It will be preceded by a parade along the Main Line by the tailors in their cars. Other features which enlivened this body's outing last year will be included. All members of the association participating will close their establishments all day.

Down Brookline in Tame League Game

First Half Champs, With Walt Masters on Mound, Win, 12-7.

Walter Masters, cabalistic ace of the Narberth champion nine, registered his third triumph of the season last Saturday when he dealt eight hits to the strong Brookline nine, from which they managed to squeeze seven runs, while his teammates notched F. Wood and Coleman for thirteen, from which they assembled twelve markers, thus getting off to a good start in the second half.

F. Wood scaled the peak at the start where he remained on duty for three innings and part of the subsequent session, but walked off when the hard-slugging boys of the home club garnered six runs from him. Coleman, who assumed responsibilities in the fourth, was charged with the loss of this game.

Withal it was a rather tame contest, which bored the majority of the local fans, who left the diamond long before the game drew nigh. In fact, it is always a bore some game when Narberth

Prize For Beetles

It's going to be tough for the Japanese beetles hereabouts. A prize has been offered by the Narberth Playground authorities to the boy or girl bringing in the greatest number of beetles between Monday and Friday of next week. They should be brought in quart fruit jars, with covers, to either the Community Playground or to the school playground. An intensive course will be offered to all contestants in "how to make the Japanese beetle do tricks."

Hedgerow Players Please in Shaw's 'Misalliance'

"Misalliance," the second offering of the Hedgerow players at the Anthony Wayne Theatre on Wednesday evening, bears the subtitle, "A debate in three parts." It is well named. There is talk, talk, talk, interminable talk and fortunately for the audience the talk is in Mr. Shaw's best vein.

Ranging from gentle but rapier-like thrusts of wit to broad farce, this excellently-produced comedy entirely captivated a goodly and appreciative audience, the great majority of whom remained throughout the entire three hours of the performance.

There is a line in the play, "Democracy reads well, but doesn't act well, like some people's plays." Mr. Shaw's plays do both. Their wit which is more of the chuckling variety can be appreciated equally well by reading. But the sly dig does not apply to Shaw's own plays since they contain enough of the truly dramatic element to make them act well.

This is very noticeable when given such a competent performance as held the boards at the Wayne Theatre. Harry Bellaver as John Tarleton, the underwear king; William Price as Lord Summerhays, Ford Nofer as Joey Percival all gave finished performances. Johnny Tarleton and Bentley Summerhays were well played by Ted Newton and David Drinker, though the latter's voice did not have sufficient volume to carry clearly to all parts of the theatre, this defect perhaps adding rather than detracting to the part he was playing, since none would expect a deep and lusty voice to issue from this pampered darling. The patomine and inebriated acting of Allyn Joslyn as the gunner clerk was particularly delightful. As for the women, Isobel Murdock as Hypatia, the "glorious young beast"; Dorothy Yockel as Chickabiddy were entirely satisfactory. Dudley Vaughan more than made up by her clever and poised performance for her lack of natural endowment for the role of the beautiful polish juggler, Lena Szczpanowska.

One wonders why some people persist in bringing small children to such a play. Perhaps Wayne children are naturally precocious and can enjoy Shaw as well as adults. One doubts this, however, when they either make distracting noises with programs or else fall sound asleep.

The Main Line is fortunate in having the Hedgerow Theatre play at Wayne and those who do not avail themselves of the opportunity to see forthcoming selections from its extensive repertoire are depriving themselves of evenings of unmitigated enjoyment. Next Wednesday, July 24, "The Devil's Disciple," will be presented. R. M. C.

Firemen Beat Cops

The Ardmore firemen showed the Lower Merion police a thing or two about the national game when they defeated them in a nine-inning fray, 13 to 7, last Friday evening on the Narberth baseball grounds. Fred Walzer, pitching for the coppers, was knocked out of the box. Tyson hit a homer for the police, while Webb did likewise for the firemen with three men on base. Circuit clouts were also hit by Richmond and J. Mullin, of the firemen, the latter a pinch hitter. Kyle and Stanton were the battery for the firemen.

Trounce Ardmore

The Narberth Juniors trounced the Ardmore Arrows last Thursday by the score of 14 to 6. Trailing until the sixth inning the Juniors staged a heavy-hitting rally to score twelve runs in that inning. Two homers by Rose and Albert and a triple by Albert with the bases loaded featured the inning. The Juniors' lineup: Heckle, Thompson, Albert, Young, Burgess, McKelvey, Gallagher, Parks and Rose.

Motoring up through the picturesque New England States and through the western beauty spots of this country vies with seashore and ocean voyages during summer months, and the perfect weather of the past week is giving those not out of town many chances to enjoy all the summer sports. Tennis courts are filled . . . swimming pools gay with bright-colored suits . . . automobiles crowded with picnickers. . . .

However, much as we enjoy painting a rosy picture for the stay-at-homes we do envy the vacationists. Especially do we envy those who head for Europe. Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd B. Edgerton, of 107 Chestnut Avenue, will sail today on the White Star Liner Olympic for a tour of England, France, Germany and Switzerland. While most of us are managing with a great deal of effort "to bear up" under the August sun, Mr. and Mrs. Edgerton will no doubt be enjoying the coolness of the Alps. They will return August 29 on the S. S. Reliance. Several luncheons and dinner-bridge parties have been given in their honor. Mrs. Edgerton was the guest of honor at luncheon on Tuesday which Miss Laura Brown gave at her home, 123 Elmwood Avenue. The guests were Mrs. Eberhardt Mueller, Mrs. George Michener, Mrs. W. A. Kelley, Miss Mabel Brown and Miss Anna Foley. Mr. and Mrs. Mueller accompanied the Edgertons to New York, and last night entertained them at a dinner party in the Metropolis before they embarked.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Graves, of Mustang, Mass., were guests of the Raymond S. Jones, 205 Gayling Avenue, this week. Mr. and Mrs. Jones will leave today for a motor trip to Mustang. Their daughter, Betty, and son, Allan, are at camps in Centre Harbor, N. H.

Mrs. Joseph T. Barclay and her daughter, Miss Ann Barclay, of 33 Sabine Avenue, will leave next week for a trip to the Grand Canyon in Arizona.

Joseph T. Barclay, Jr., has returned from a visit with his aunt, Miss Helen E. Barclay, in Tucson, Arizona. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schliff, 520 Merwyn Road, drove to Stone Harbor on Sunday, taking down with them their daughter, Myrtle, who is on a house party there with other members of the Phi Tau Delta Sorority.

Mrs. Harriet Pearson, of Stepney Place, is motoring to Cape Cod for an extended stay, and Mrs. Edward S. Haws, Dudley Avenue, and her daughter, Mrs. John Collum Nash, Wynnedale Road, motored to Stone Harbor for a couple of days.

William Burgess, 242 Hampden Avenue, returned Monday from a motor trip to Maine.

The Misses Eleanor, Kathryn and Sara Burgess were guests in Wild-

Thirteen Police Hold Picnic at Gladwyne

Thirteen members of the Lower Merion police force staged a picnic Monday, from 11 to 7, in Gladwyne. In addition to sports events there was dinner, given by several friends of the force, including Chairman A. D. Warnock, of the Police Committee, whose box of cigars soon went up in smoke.

Winners of sport events included Mrs. William Carlin, diving; Mrs. B. Utz, swimming; Superintendent C. P. Smith and Officer Frank Flynn, target shooting, and Officers Bitterman and Ralph Brown, quito pitching.

Those who attended the affair were Superintendent Smith and Mrs. Smith, Sergeant George Vander Veur and Mrs. Vander Veur and their son Roy, Officer and Mrs. William Carlin and their son and daughter, Officer and Mrs. George Dirks and their son George, Jr., Officer and Mrs. Oliver Johnson, their two sons and Mr. Johnson's sister, Mrs. Cox; Officer and Mrs. B. Utz, Officer and Mrs. Bitterman, Officer Thomas Loughran, his son and three daughters, and Officers Ralph Brown, Hugh Waters, Charles Barr, Herbert Wilson and Frank Flynn.

Forty Days Drought

Monday was St. Swithin's Day, and, according to a superstition, hoary with age, there will be a drought for forty days as a result. This superstition is of English origin, and although there has never been a year that was even an approach to a fulfillment it will probably continue to go down through the centuries as a weather belief.

UNCLE CY'S COLUMN

Stray Thoughts

Tolerance comes with age, but new trends and changes and reforms are the products of the enthusiasm, intolerance and boundless energy of youth.

The views on prohibition were like poking a stick into a hornet's nest. I'm too old to keep up a prolonged quarrel or bicker, so the supporters and condemners can fight it out on the other side of the page.

It would seem that there are two sorts of people; those who can handle people and those who enjoy things. To me, people are the most interesting study and association in the world, and I can't appreciate the attitude of the man who prefers inanimate objects.

How many of you other summer bachelors are in my sad condition of having to send most of your socks to a distant summer spot for darning or buy a new supply?

Not having any depth of feeling about local politics I am delighted to see a good fight brewing among the spottish upholders of the local organization. Let the shining pots and spotted kettles go to it. My suggested solution is the election of someone to the post of Lower Merion Treasurer who has never before engaged in politics. I should also like to ask each candidate for the magistracy to state what legal background he has and why he deems himself competent to interpret the law and pass judgment on his fellowmen.

What a bond of good fellowship there is between those who are forced to spend their summers at home chained down to an exacting business while their friends and associates are enjoying comfortable vacations.

This morning I drove behind a woman driver who passed two red traffic signals in succession and laughed with her female companion as though the act were extremely clever.

The poor man is never sued for breach of promise and rarely for divorce. His wife is too busy to resent the pressure of the yoke of matrimony.

Yesterday I drove down to Charlestown Village and stopped a minute to imagine that it was still in the pre-Revolutionary days. Don't you suppose we'd be happier and better satisfied without all of these modern conveniences and time-saving devices?

What is better than the leather seat of a motorcar that has been exposed to the sun's direct rays for a few hours on these summer days?

It is fine to see Joan Lowell defending her authenticity in the columns of the Saturday Post. It is not only unusual to be allowed to defend oneself before a group of over two million, but to be paid for it besides seems too ideal.

If some middle-aged man wants a mellow traveling companion for a trip of six months or so to almost any point will he please address me at once.

One of the joys of summer bachelorhood is marketing and "editing" the cook's list. She would have me buy ten loaves of bread, five pounds of butter, a bushel of spinach and other things in proportionate amounts. I know just how much it costs to feed a few people very simply, and I'll have a lot of sympathy for Aunt Cy for a few weeks after she returns.

This weather makes my siesta imperative unless business keeps me in town all day. Oh, to have the customary ease alleged to be enjoyed by the Spanish dons.

Will someone suggest a new and highly controversial subject for me to start next week?

Hedgerow Will Present Shaw's 'Devil's Disciple'

The Hedgerow Theatre's third presentation at the Anthony Wayne Theatre will be George Bernard Shaw's melodrama, "The Devil's Disciple," which is scheduled for Wednesday evening, July 24.

Dealing in a typically Shavian manner, with the early days of the American Revolution, "The Devil's Disciple" is a humorous, philosophical and at times caustic commentary on the business of war, nationalism and Puritanism. It has its highly dramatic and tense moments in the course of which several interesting portraits of historical figures are revealed, notably that of General Burgoyne and Major Swindon.

"The Devil's Disciple" had its first showing at the Hedgerow Theatre on May 3 of this season and was the first new play to be added to the extensive repertoire in 1929. It has been repeated eight times, and its performance Wednesday evening at the Anthony Wayne Theatre will mark its ninth performance. The cast includes William Price as Richard Dudgeon, Isabel Murdoch as Mrs. Anderson, Ted McKay as Minister Anderson, Fred Nofer as General Burgoyne, Alfred Rowe as Major Swindon, Jean Kritzer as Mrs. Dudgeon, Dudley Vaughan as Essie, Harry Bellaver as Christy and Smith Dawless as the Sergeant.

The excellence of the Hedgerow Theatre productions thus far seen at the Anthony Wayne Theatre is impressing upon Main Liners the debt of gratitude due to Mr. Harry Freid, director of the Anthony Wayne Theatre, for bringing so varied and brilliant a repertoire into the Main Line.

Among some of the plays from the Hedgerow repertoire promised for early presentation at the Anthony Wayne Theatre are A. A. Milne's "The Romantic Age" and Stephen Leacock's "Cast Up by the Sea."

Edwards Says Scouts

Will Like Visit to Wales' Birthplace

Twenty-four Boy Scouts from Bala-Cynwyd and Ardmore sailed last Saturday for England, where they will attend the Third International Jamboree at Birkenhead, to be held July 30 until August 13. News of their sailing, published in this paper last week, was of especial interest to W. M. O. Edwards, for many years postmaster at Pencoyd, president of the Pencoyd Neighborhood Club, and noted writer of descriptions and history of Wales, where he was born.

"I was delighted," he writes, "to read in your last issue an account of the Boy Scout visit and Jamboree. Birkenhead is near the border line into Wales. Bala, in Wales, and St. Asaph's, in Wales, from whence the early Lower Merion settlers came, are only ten or twelve miles from where the scouts will be camping."

"The boys will see St. Asaph's Church, over 1000 years old, after which St. Asaph's, Bala-Cynwyd, was named. They will find a beautiful, romantic, picturesque little county full of historical interest; and a rugged, hearty, good-natured people, who never talk about themselves or about what they do. That is why we so seldom hear or read about them, although there were fourteen generals and seven colonels of Welsh blood in the Revolutionary War."

Mr. Edwards' letter enclosed postcard views of towns in Merionethshire, Wales, including Barmouth, with its picturesque neck of the sea; Bala, with its Main or High Street, with trees growing in the street, and a Methodist theological college; and Llanfyllin, where Mr. Edwards was born and raised.

LETTERS TO UNCLE CY

Uncle Cy's series of views about Prohibition have produced many letters of protest and approval. The following letter is contributed by the Rev. John Van Ness, minister of the Narberth Presbyterian Church.

More Against Uncle Cy

To the Editor:

In response to the gracious request of Uncle Cy that I give wider publicity to the exceptions I ventured to make in my sermon to his attitude toward the Prohibition Laws, permit me to submit the following:

Uncle Cy's article begins with the extraordinary statement: "We have examined all angles of the background and realization of national prohibition and have seen how it has worked out thus far." One might be prepared after such a statement to expect some good thing discovered, but alas, Uncle Cy seems to have seen but two results and both put prohibition in a bad light. "We have seen advantages which might have occurred without prohibition and abuses and tragedies directly caused by it." The "advantages" I presume would be that the present illegal drinking would become legal and the "tragedies" I suppose are the present lawlessness, drunkenness and crime. It is always a question as to just how much blame to put on a law when it is broken. One might blame the laws against bank robbery for the tragedies of this frequent crime with just as much justification as to blame prohibition laws for the tragedy of the shattering of these laws.

Uncle Cy advocates a modification of the prohibition laws. He suggests a form of local option and would have the Government conduct the manufacture and sale of beer and wine somewhat similar, I suppose, to the fiasco now going on in Canada. It was my privilege to be in Canada a few weeks ago and to hear from those who know of the complete failure of their liquor laws and the vast increase in drunkenness in that fair land. We are all indebted to Dr. Chaffant for his most convincing reply in last week's Our Town to Uncle Cy's modification plan. Uncle Cy says: "The prohibition laws happened too suddenly to be enforceable." Too suddenly? The Ten Commandments happened too suddenly for some people. All reformatory measures come too suddenly for those who are opposed to them. The Eighteenth amendment came as a logical result of temperance education and agitation for over 20 years. Maine adopted prohibition seventy years ago and most of our States had already gone dry and a vast majority of our people were working for it and longing for it long before the Eighteenth amendment was adopted.

Uncle Cy argues that the prohibition laws are unenforceable and therefore should be modified. Suppose for the sake of argument that we admit that they are unenforceable; is that a sufficient reason for their modification? Other laws are not enforced. Take the law against robbery. President Hoover says we have fifty times as much robbery here in proportion to our population as in Great Britain. Would Uncle Cy modify our laws against robbery just because they are not enforced? Perhaps he would advocate some kind of governmental control so that only certain kinds of robbery would be prohibited or that a license would be required before one is permitted to rob. This sounds as sensible to me as this talk about modifying the liquor laws. But is the prohibition law unenforceable? If so, it is a mighty serious matter. Mr. Coolidge once said: "A Government which does not enforce its laws is unworthy of the name of government." There are many in a position to know who say the law can be enforced. I have space to quote but one authority, Edwin A. Olson, U. S. District Attorney: "The liquor laws can certainly be enforced. We have no more trouble enforcing them than the enforcement of any other law." I am prepared to accept other explanations as to why the prohibition laws are not enforced, but I have too great respect for the power and authority of this great country of ours to believe that the very Constitution upon which this Government stands is unenforceable.

Uncle Cy has gotten in bad company in his investigations. He acknowledges that he has "been with and seen only very lawless people." Lieut. Governor Lowman, of New York, says: "The great masses of Americans do not drink liquor. Drinking is confined to the so-called 'upper crust' and the down-and-out in the slum; these are dying off fast from poison hooch." Prof. Irving Fisher, of Yale, says that it is safe to conclude that the total consumption of alcoholic beverages today is certainly less than 16% of pre-prohibition consumption, probably less than 10%, and possibly less than 5%.

Did space permit I could give thousands of testimonies of the beneficent results, and especially among the laboring classes, of prohibition. No, no, Uncle Cy, we do not want modification. Should you bring back the legal traffic in wine and beer you will bring back 90% of the evils of the old saloon days, which you yourself abhor. The liquor interests are spending millions in their merciless fight to accomplish this. Let every respectable law-abiding citizen spring to the defense of our country in this mighty conflict to preserve the Constitution of the U. S. A.

JOHN VAN NESS.

*Advantages referred to were improved economic conditions of laboring class.

A moot question. Is drinking a crime?

Incomplete quotation—the statement was: "We have tried for over ten years to bend the people to a law. IF THE RESULT HAS BEEN SATISFACTORY I have been with and seen only very lawless people."

Note Preamble: "We, the people of the United States, in order to form a more perfect Union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquillity, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this CONSTITUTION for the United States of America."

DULL DAYS

for The Coal Man?

Not a Bit of It!

Guess there's not much doing in your line now?

This is a much-asked question popped at the coal man by friendly conversationalists these summer days.

Strange to say, the answer is, "Dull? I should say not! Summer is a very busy time with us."

Every summer—that is, and this summer we have been kept busier than ever. And here's the reason:

More people each year learn the advisability of filling their bins through the summer with coal for next winter. The old arguments prevail—coal is cleaner, cheaper and can be delivered more easily.

Host to Mothers

Vacation Home for Mothers Opened by Former Narberth Resident, Carroll Downes

A unique vacation home for Philadelphia mothers was opened recently near Oxford, Maryland, by Carroll Downes, retired capitalist and former resident of Narberth. It was built on the site of Bonfield Manor, the former summer home of the Downes.

Mr. Downes was formerly vice president of Durant Motors and was also chief Burgess of Narberth. While he and Mrs. Downes were in Europe on a trip designed to benefit Mrs. Downes' health, the structure burned to the ground with an estimated loss of $50,000. Mrs. Downes died in a hospital in Nice, France, in February, 1928.

The home overlooking the peaceful Tred Avon River, on the historic Maryland eastern shore, was built by Mr. Downes in memory of his wife. She was for years an ardent worker in an organization of St. Paul's Church, Overbrook, whose purpose was to aid poor mothers and children in getting the benefits of a country summer vacation, and Mr. Downes is carrying out her ideas in providing the home recently opened. He proposes to conduct the place somewhat along the lines of a hotel rather than an institution.

Fifteen mothers from Philadelphia are among the first guests. They will spend a week and be taken home again without any expense to themselves, and each week throughout the summer an equal number of tired mothers will be guests.

There are apartments for women, for girls and for boys, fitted with baths, showers and every toilet convenience. The rooms and indeed the entire house is beautifully furnished, there being many rare pieces which Mr. Downes has bought abroad, many of them with long histories.

A feature that is especially appealing is the flat roof of the house. It is approached through a hatch, like a yacht, and on the roof are comfortable chairs. From here the view of the bay and three rivers is afforded. A well-selected library for children and for grown-ups has been provided. A movie outfit is here, and pictures are shown several times a week. When the first of the guests arrived a picture was taken, scenes of the children at play and the many activities of the place were taken, and a few days later were shown on the screen.

Mr. Downes has his own bus, seating twenty persons. It goes to Philadelphia, calls at the homes of the guests and brings them to Bonfield. A week later the same bus takes back the first guests and returns with others. There are counsellors for the children, a young lady and a young man. There is a matron and a nurse. The entire care of the children is taken from the mothers. A physician comes once a week. The new arrivals are weighed and suitable food suggested. The mothers rest, while the children enjoy bathing, swings, slide boards, a pony and cart and many other diversions.

Books and Stories Attract Children to Library

Little children seem to have a sense that tells them when they are welcome and it has prompted them this summer to flock to the library building every Tuesday afternoon at three-thirty, and sometimes long before that, to hear Miss Church, the librarian, tell stories.

As they come into the room they are greeted by Mrs. Bolton, who helps them to find a chair, and when the attendance goes well up over fifty, as it frequently does, the search for a chair presents a problem, or it would to any less proficient than Mrs. Bolton.

When the proper hour has come, Miss Church arrives and quiet reigns while she tells her stories. If there is time she permits the audience to ask for one that has been told at some previous meeting.

These meetings are open to all children of the town, and to parents as well. Notices of the stories are given each week in "Our Town," and any one interested to see this new branch of the library's work will be well repaid by a glimpse of the forty or fifty children sitting in a circle waiting for a story.

New books are added to the children's collection each month, to be taken home to be read, and for the month of July the following were purchased:

"Midsummer," by Katherine Adams; "Prairie Rose," by Bertha Bush; "Big People and Little People of Other Lands," by Shaw; "Tommy Tinker's Book," by Blaisdell; "Rhymes and Stories," by Lansing; "Five-Minute Stories," by Laura E. Richards; "Golden Windows," by Laura E. Richards; "Bandury Cross Stories," by Howard; "Noisy Nora," by Hugh Lofting; "Cricket, a Little Girl of the Old West," by Hooker.

Narberth Hard Put

to Defeat Medio

Media staged a surprising rally in the sixth when they troubled Graham for five immaculate bingles. Sowers doubled to left as did Morgan to right. Austin fell on strikes and Sowers crossed off Campbell's safety. Newmiller singled, but Young tagged Morgan at the plate and Campbell annexed the second run off McClay's hit.

But then the champions came out of their dormant state of affairs and made sure their lead in the following by bunching three hits for as many runs. After Graham singled, stole second and counted off the catcher's wild throw to second, Harris and Masters followed suit with a pair of bingles and Gilfillan shot a rocky liner to right, emptying the bases. Babb hit to second and was out, Gilly going to third, where, a moment later, he was caught napping.

There was an ardent desire in the hearts of the Media nine in the eighth and final session, and that was to put over three runs, and when Newmiller smashed a booming shot over Heckle's head in deep center, the tourists seemed to have a solid commanding grasp of the situation, but Morgan, who came to bat in the last inning with two down, proved a disappointment when he failed to lure home Litchenstein and Weaver, who had contributed the tenth and eleventh hits of the game.

Cynwyd Club Retains Tennis Championship

Cynwyd "A" retained its championship of the First Division in the Middle States Tennis League Saturday by handing Germantown a 8-1 lacing at Germantown. Herman Dornheim, who was defeated by Tom Hanson, was the only Cynwyd player to lose his match. Winners were Harold Colborn, Herbert Fischer, Johnny Haynes, Ralph Dix and Harold Custer, singles, and Fisher and Haynes, Colborn and Dornheim, and Custer and Dix in the doubles.

In the "B" division, Cynwyd is still running a close second to Germantown, although Cynwyd suffered a 6-3 setback at the hands of Glenside Saturday. Cynwyd "B" team includes H. Simmons, G. Straub, W. Maguire, M. Harlan, W. MacKenney, J. F. Strawinski, Beard and Lott.

Gun Wounds Two Boys

Two boys were injured by the discharge of an old rusty revolver "which wouldn't shoot," in Ardmore, and one of the boys is in a serious condition in Bryn Mawr Hospital.

They are Natalie Petrella, 17, 219 West Spring Avenue, and William Ford, 10, colored, 358 West Spring Avenue. The latter was struck in the temple with the bullet, which flattened out. The bullet went through Petrella's left hand as he tugged at the trigger to loosen it. He had his hand over the muzzle. Petrella was playing with the revolver and the younger boy was watching.

Cynwyd Man Golf Star

E. A. Robinson, Cynwyd, carried off low gross honors in the qualifying round of the mid-summer handicap tournament at Plymouth Country Club Saturday. His gross score was 79, but his handicap of but 7 placed him in twelfth position in the net scores.

Families Enjoy Pools
at Colonial Village

It is reported that the Colonial Village Swimming and Skating Club, north of Wayne, is about to close its membership for the season, and is already receiving applications for bath houses for next season. These bath houses with their small porches in front and the striped awnings over head make a very attractive sight.

The number of people from distant points who have become members is amazing, as the membership list now contains the names of families from Chestnut Hill, Germantown, White-marsch Valley, the Green Hill Farms section of Overbrook, Wynnewood, Bala-Cynwyd, Merion and Philadelphia; in fact, every town along the entire Main Line from Philadelphia to Downingtown is represented.

The new children's pool, which has been moved and now contains a heavy plank floor, with clear blue water averaging in depth from four inches to three feet, is causing considerable comment, with its new sand beach, swings, slides, tubs and rubber toys of every description. There is a life guard constantly on duty at the children's pool from 8 A. M. until 9 P. M. each day, including Sundays.

Whooping Cough Rampant

Eighteen new cases of contagion were reported to the Lower Merion Township during the last week, several more than the average for the last few weeks. However, the total is due to sixteen new cases of whooping cough, exactly double the number for last week. Other diseases showed a marked drop, one new case of chicken-pox being reported in the Bryn Mawr-Rosemont-Villanova district, with a tuberculosis patient in the South Ardmore division. Thirteen of the new whooping cough cases are in South Ardmore, one in the Bryn Mawr district and two in the Merion-Wynnewood territory.

Of the total of 470 cases reported in the township since January 1, 206 have been for whooping cough, with forty under quarantine for that disease at the present time.

Aerial Ladder Truck
Will Arrive July 30

Ardmore's new $16,000 aerial ladder truck will arrive at the Merion Fire Company's Greenfield Avenue headquarters July 30. Word to that effect was received from the company furnishing the apparatus this week. Housing exercises will probably be held early in the fall, but no definite date or program has been adopted to date.

I. Scott Boyd, chairman of the fire company's committee which is holding a campaign to finance payment for the truck, said that appeals to about one-third of Ardmore's householders had met with good results and that the remainder of the residents would be circulated in the near future.

Louis R. Page, of State and Spring Mill Roads, Bryn Mawr, who died July 2, disposed of an estate valued at upward of $350,000 in his will probated at Norristown.

John R. Plummer and John R. Lair, faithful employees, are each given $500 if still employed at the time of testator's death. All other employees are to receive a month's wages. One-quarter of the estate is given in equal shares absolutely to sons, Louis Rodman Page and Edward C. Page. The other two quarters are placed in trust for the benefit of two daughters, Annette Page Hacker and Mary Page Brown, with the right to make testamentary disposition at their deaths. If they fail to make wills, the trust funds are to be awarded to their children. The sons are named executors of the will, which was executed December 5, 1927. A codicil executed June 2, 1928, directs that the daughter Mary shall have the right to occupy the residence at State and Spring Mill Roads in Bryn Mawr, with the option to purchase the same at a price to be fixed by the appraisers.

It's Hard to Improve

The best things are always the NATURAL ones. Cosmetics will not improve the looks of a really beautiful woman—no painting is ever as beautiful as the original.

WHITE BOCK'S popularity is largely due to the fact that it is brewed the NATURAL way, the way the famous German beers have been brewed for hundreds of years. None of the alcoholic content is extracted from the finished product—no chemicals substituted to destroy its NATURAL, refreshing, healthful ingredients.

Davismen Play Raggedly and Barely Escape No-Hit Shutout.

SCORE WAS 9 TO 0

By John Uberti

The champion Narberth nine met one of the keenest baseball clubs in Passon that ever stepped upon the home field last Monday night, and by virtue of slovenly playing permitted Seitter, a most efficient boxman, to garner a two-hit victory, winning 9-0. Unlike their usual tactics, when they submerge their opponents under top-heavy scores, Narberth had to fight hard merely to avoid a no-hit setback at the hands of "Chick" Passon's ravaging club. This makes Narberth's seventh defeat out of twelve games of independent ball so far this season.

Narberth may derive some consolation from the fact that Seitter, Passon's star hurler, had a record of ten straight victories prior to Monday's game, including Wentz-Olney and Harrowgate among his victims.

Manager Davis heaved a sigh of relief in the eighth and terminating session when Babb and Thomas scored the lone hits of the contest. One would have believed the local nine had severed a monotonous seven-inning deadlock. The Harrowgate star tripled while the latter singled, whereupon George was nipped at the plate, striving to prevent a shutout. Babb, who shut his eyes as the ball went screeching over plate, took a lucky swing at the cowhide and only by natural instinct gyrated the three coins and would have been nailed at the plate had not Cavanaugh, who was coaching on third, pushed him back to third.

Humphreys and Harris, who were given admittance to first in the second and fourth relatively, and Babb, who reached first on the first-sacker's blunder in the fifth, were the only boroughees to reach the bases.

Walter Masters was responsible for the Green Sox's two runs in the first when his intended assist to the plate from the outfield landed on top of the grandstand enclosure behind the plate, allowing Fadell and Umholtz to score.

Lyons wavered considerably in the fourth and with the aid of Young's incessant erring allowed the Quaker City nine to register four runs. Lyons' balk with the bases loaded was a specimen of poor baseball in this inning.

Seitter took to the mound in the seventh and felled the pick of the home crop as wheat falls before the scythe, tallying his seventh strikeout and added another victim to his list in the following inning.

Lyons grew more unsteady as the game continued, and, after he dispatched two wild throws in the seventh, he was withdrawn in favor of Babb.

Babb, however, was no puzzle to the Passon Club. Fadell snared a pass, filling the lanes, and Umholtz singled, scoring Seitter and Bonnet.

gets into a hitting mood as they never cease their relentless tactics until the terminating inning. It is to be remembered that since the Davismen started playing this year there was never the least possibility of playing over-time ball.

Narberth, as usual, started the trouble in the second when Martin slapped a droning three-ply shot to Windsor Avenue, scoring Curwin and Heckle, who had ambled, and in the fourth they looked like the original Pachyderms of baseball when they notched F. Wood and his feeble successor, Signor Coleman, for six bingles to tab as many runs. Burns singled past first and Thomas strolled, and Curwin doubled, Burns crossing. Thomas counted off Heckle's aerial and Harris cracked the second pitch for a two-ply smash, allowing Curwin to rally. Martin kept the two-base-hit race going strongly by slapping out a vicious shot into centre, permitting Harris to continue on to the plate a moment after he had reached second. Gilfillan reached first when the catcher missed the third strike, Martin going to third. Masters emptied the bases as he crept around to the keystone station when the first baseman received an overthrow from the infield. F. Wood left the field with little coaxing and Coleman mounted the slab and watched Masters tally the sixth point off Burns' grounder. Six runs, six hits, two errors.

Masters and Burns featured the hitting of the sixth when Harris, who reached first on the shortstop's blunder, and Gilfillan, who singled, carried over runs number nine and ten, as Walt dispatched a well-placed one-bagger while Babb counted off Burns' sacrifice.

Brookline made a vain rally to pass the local mark of eleven runs in the eighth and tightened a wide gap when they annexed four counters. Kicker singled, Huggard and Walsh walked and McDermott also strolled, allowing Kicker to leg it to the plate unmolested. Miller sacrificed, scoring Huggard, and Coleman emptied the bases with a double-crack to right.

Both teams added one to the score-board in the finale, as Heckle singled and flashed to third on Mulligan's one-bagger, and immediately crossed when the "backstop" muffed one, while McCauley booted a lively triple in the alien half and beat Master's assist to the pentagon off Leuthe's single.

Villanova Tennis Club Enjoys Successful Season

With ideal weather prevailing many Main Line residents are taking advantage of the new tennis courts erected by Villanova on the Lincoln Highway opposite the college. The ten fine clay courts afford tennis fans of nearby towns and Philadelphia easy access to an evening's recreation.

Frank McMahon, manager of the courts, is working on a plan by which he hopes to conduct a tournament among the members in the near future.

'Chevie' Outwears Two Speedometers; Is Carrying Ninth Owner

A Chevrolet with a chassis built in 1913, a full year before the World War began, and a motor that was assembled when our doughboys were encamping back in 1917, is still in daily use at Goliad, Texas.

It is called "Spark Plug" by its proud owner, Hugo Wilks, and of the millions of Chevrolets in use today on both hemispheres it is perhaps the oldest.

On several occasions Wilks has hitched a trailer to "Spark Plug" and pulled a load of two thousand pounds, plus the 815 pounds which the trailer weighs, all the way to San Antonio, 125 miles distant.

Not long ago he piled it high with a 1515 pound load of cotton bales and drove it through a dry creek bed. Many times he has driven it with water up to the floor boards.

No hill in the section is too tough for "Spark Plug," and Wilks says that it is sufficiently economical, continuing to give as good as twenty miles to the gallon.

"Spark Plug" had many owners—eight to be exact—before Wilks purchased it from the Voght Chevrolet Company, of Schulenberg, Texas, nine years ago. For four years he got splendid service from the 1913 motor, which might yet be encased beneath the 1913 hood but for an accident which occurred five years ago.

At that time a 1917 Chevrolet, owned by one of Wilks' brothers, caught fire and its chassis was destroyed. The motor was unharmed, so it was decided to give "Spark Plug's" original motor a well-deserved rest and substitute the newer one.

"Spark Plug's" total mileage is indeterminate. Since Wilks has had it three speedometers have been in use. One registered 75,000 miles; the second, 60,000, and the present one has run up 15,000.

The total repair bill during Wilks' nine years' ownership has been $150. In this connection, however, it might be stated that Wilks does all his own repairing. Recently fifteen new rings were placed in the car and other minor adjustments made.

All of the Wilkses are mechanically inclined and all prefer the Chevrolet. The father of "Spark Plug's" owner has had four Chevrolets. One of the brothers is still driving a 1917 model and another brother has a 1924 model.

Sell Barnes Company

Announcement was made recently of the sale of the A. C. Barnes Chemical Company, Philadelphia, to the Zonite Products Corporation. Dr. Barnes, who resides in Merion and was the storm centre two years ago of a Lower Merion zoning controversy, is the founder of the Barnes Foundation of Art, a private Merion showplace. He is a friend of the Narberth Fire Company and the Lower Merion Police Pension Fund. His company manufactures argyrol and ovoidin.

In order to buy the Barnes Company, Zonite stockholders approved an increase in authorized capital to 500,000 no-part common shares, from 200,000 shares, and the sale of 200,000 shares at $30 a share.

Penn-Wynne Lawns in Beauty Contest

Home Owners Spruce Up Grounds in Overbrook Hills Section.

VIE FOR $50 IN GOLD

Home owners in Overbrook-Hills-in-Merion and in Penn-Wynne are becoming anxious about the appearance of their lawns as the time approaches for the selection of winners of $50 in gold to be made by the Lawn and Garden Committee of the Overbrook-Hills, Penn-Wynne Civic Association.

J. Heston Harned, chairman of the committee, has notified about 200 home owners that the results of their landscaping efforts will be judged by a preliminary board starting on August 1.

Mr. Harned announced that the additional judging will be conducted by three horticultural experts, none of whom resides in either Overbrook-Hills-in-Merion or in Penn-Wynne. The preliminary judging will be conducted by the Lawn and Garden Committee of the Overbrook-Hills, Penn-Wynne Civic Association, which includes V. W. Titman and C. E. Donoway, also Alfred P. Kelly, president, and J. Raymond Dahm, secretary.

Mr. Harned has notified the residents that the smallest garden will get equal consideration with the larger ones, and the general appearance of the entire property will be taken into consideration.

No registration will be necessary. Every property in Overbrook-Hills-in-Merion and Penn-Wynne will be judged.

The money for the prizes has been donated to the Civic Association by McWilliams and Celoney, builders.

Appearances Do Count

Clothes, it is generally agreed nowadays, do not make the man, but they have a whole lot to do with it. Clean, well-pressed garments are a letter of introduction which no one can afford to be without.

Chasing Rainbows

to get colors for your Roof and Side-walls will be unnecessary if you will ask to see our various shades of Asphalt and Cedar Shingles. Either can be applied right over your old roof, if desired. One place where you need quality in construction is in the Roof. You are buying this protection when you buy the Johns-Manville Asphalt Shingles, or our VERTICAL GRAIN Red Cedar Shingles, stained or unstained.

If the stucco is falling off the side walls you will be pleased with the effects of Stained Cedar Shingles.

If you anticipate repairing or putting on a new roof let us give you an estimate.

DELIVERED

Fully Equipped,
Nothing More to Buy

PRICED TO GIVE YOU GREATEST VALUE

CONSIDER the delivered, fully equipped price of this charming Nash "400" Sedan, and you'll see immediately it is a car you certainly should consider, when you get ready to buy.

For here, at a delivered, fully equipped price much lower than you would expect to pay for a car of its size and character, is an Advanced Six "400" Sedan with the Twin Ignition, high compression, valve-in-head, 7-bearing motor—with the beauty and style that have made the "400" a heavy favorite among all the year's new cars—and with a host of other costly-car features never available before in this price field.

Such features, for instance, as Bijur Centralized Chassis Lubrication which oils 29 chassis points at the pressure of a pedal. And alloy steel springs individually designed for its size and weight, correlated with Houdaille, double-action, outboard-mounted, hydraulic shock absorbers. And the "world's easiest steering"!

These are only a few of the features of this Nash "400", but they give you an idea of its greater value and the extraordinarily fine performance you may expect from it.

The delivered, fully equipped price on this, and on all "400" models is lower, for the simple reason that all this equipment—Bijur Centralized Chassis Lubrication, Houdaille hydraulic shock absorbers, bumpers, spare tire lock, and tire cover—is installed at the factory and included in the factory price. Some dealers charge as much as $50 to $60 extra for bumpers alone.
